

In the realm of energies

Humanity now accepts that all matter is energy. How does conscientiology explain the energy that exists in our lives and in the cosmos?

According to bioenergeticology, which is a specialty of conscientiology, energies can be categorized as immanent or consciential.

Immanent Energy

1. Immanent energy (IE) is impersonal, primary, essential, and multiform energy.
2. It interpenetrates the entire universe, and is therefore diffuse and omnipresent.
3. It is still untamed by the human consciousness.
4. It is too subtle to be identified by existing instruments.
5. It cannot be created or destroyed, only collected, processed or evaluated.
6. It influences parapsychic phenomena, projectability and thosenity.

Consciential Energy

1. Consciential energy (CE) is also known as animic strength or personal magnetism.
2. CE is the IE employed by a consciousness in their personal manifestations and thosenizations.
3. CEs account for some human qualities, such as physical attraction and charisma.
4. CE is also known as volitioline, the fuel or fundamental agent of the active will.

Energy Therapy

Any method of physical treatment, when considering the energies of and beyond the human body, directly or indirectly, uses CEs in its technical procedures.

These processes may involve:

- Exteriorization of energies
- Absorption of energies
- Extraphysical energizations
- Energetic self-defence

Types of Energy

The most common types of energies we interact with are (holosomatic energization).

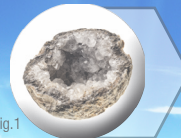

Fig.1

■ Geoenergy

Derived from the earth, magma and the movement of tectonic plates.

Fig.2

■ Hydroenergy

Produced from water beds, aquifers, rivers and rains.

Fig.3

■ Aeroenergy

Present in the air we breathe.

Fig.4

■ Phytoenergy

Coming from vegetables and plants.

Fig.5

■ Electrical energy

Relating to electricity and distribution lines.

Fig.6

■ Zooenergy

Concerning terrestrial animals.

Fig.7

■ Consciential energy

Stemming from consciousnesses and their ways of interaction.

- Since ancient times, consciential and immanent energies have been used by people.
- The Greeks, Egyptians, Hindus and Chinese, for example, used them through the laying on of hands.
- However, every paradigm shift is slow. Mechanistic scientists still consider this type of information as a fantasy, even when faced with facts and experiments that demonstrate otherwise.

Energetic Reservoirs

Energetic reservoirs are sources and reserves of vital energy in the energosoma (energetic body). They are located in the same region as the soma's plexus

Energetic Sources

1. Food. When balanced, it promotes somatic homeostasis and sustains intraphysical life.

2. Breath. Oxygen is absorbed by the cells and energy is distributed to other metabolic processes.

3. Sleep. Enables the occurrence of cellular detoxification through disconnection of the vehicles of manifestation.

4. Absorption. Consciential and immanent energies are absorbed through chakras (energosoma).

5. Projection. Energies are directly absorbed when projected in the psychosoma.

Reserves

Consciential energy, subtle and powerful, supplies the conscin and, simultaneously, forms reservoirs such as those located in the cerebrospinal axis and larger sympathetic plexus, including the solar plexus (umbilicochakra) as shown in the figure along side.

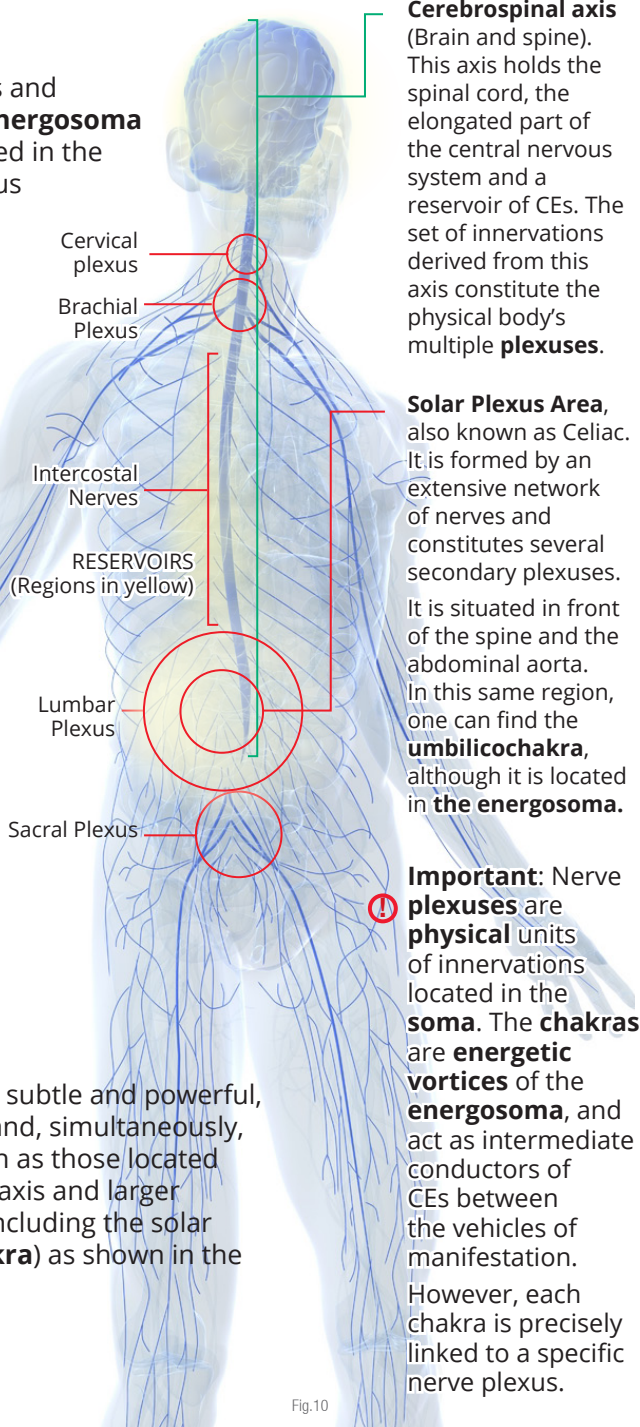

Fig.10

Cerebrospinal axis (Brain and spine). This axis holds the spinal cord, the elongated part of the central nervous system and a reservoir of CEs. The set of innervations derived from this axis constitute the physical body's multiple plexuses.

Solar Plexus Area, also known as Celiac. It is formed by an extensive network of nerves and constitutes several secondary plexuses. It is situated in front of the spine and the abdominal aorta. In this same region, one can find the umbilicochakra, although it is located in the energosoma.

Important: Nerve plexuses are physical units of innervations located in the soma. The chakras are energetic vortices of the energosoma, and act as intermediate conductors of CEs between the vehicles of manifestation. However, each chakra is precisely linked to a specific nerve plexus.

Mobilization of Energy

The mobilization of CEs occurs through the conscin's active will, by which they sponsor an energetic circulation inside and outside their human body. The conscin redirects and normalizes the energy flows according to their personal needs.

Some aspects:

- 1 The will (a conscin's power of volition) is key to each's performance with CEs. If technically applied a conscin is able to consciously master the action of the chakras, transforming the energosoma into a centre of energy mobilization.
- 2 The level of a conscin's awakening in relation to parapsychism depends on awareness and the technical application of their personal CEs.
- 3 The development of perceptions occurs through self-effort and repetition of CE mobilization techniques.
- 4 The Basic Mobilization of Energies (BME) is the name for the set of techniques that have been systematized by consciology with the aim of improving the absorption, exteriorization and closed circulation of energies, in order to reach the prophylactic and homeostatic vibrational state (VS).

Morphothosene

- 1 No two people have identical CEs with regards to their personal qualities or characteristics.
- 2 Depending on a conscin's psychic acuity or sensitivity, it is possible to interpret the predominant traits of a given individual through the perception of their energies (energetic coupling and sympathetic assimilation). This phenomenon generally occurs unconsciously in a person's daily life.
- 3 According to the way we think, feel and act, human beings permanently exteriorize mental paramatter: thosenes (thoughts, sentiments and energies) which shape our personal psychosphere. It is like a business card made of personal energies capable of attracting situations related to the pattern installed.
- 4 Depending on the quantity and quality of thosenes, this can have an influence on the creation of bioenergetic blockages, as well as unblocking, where a conscin works with their own energies, holosomatically rebalancing themselves.

Disbelief principle: Do not believe anything, not even the information in this publication. The smart thing to do is conduct personal research on the subject.

Fig.11

Infotares

infotares.org

Consciology Summary; November 2017.
Production: Flávio Monteiro. Proofreading: Antonio Pitaguary, Isabele Nascimento and Pedro Marcelino. Translation: Alba Cardoso and Jaclyn Cowen. Revision: Jeffrey Lloyd. Illustrations Copyright: Dreamstime® (Figs.1 to 7, 10 and 11).